This book is not a storytelling book in a usual sense. It contains 50 photographs, witnesses of a photographic journey through the years. Each photo can be seen as a representative for a special genre I was interested in at the time I took the shot. Nothing has been staged, all has always happened more or less accidentally. Enriched by quotes from photographers this book invites to relax and deal with photographs which were created between 2013 and 2021 with the exception of one that was taken in 1967.

"To me, photography is an art of observation. It's about finding something interesting in an ordinary place... I've found it has little to do with the things you see and everything to do with the way you see them." — Elliott Erwitt, photographer

"What is photography? Is it a print or an object, is it a jerg on your screen or does it only exist if you print it out? Is it a snapshot on your phone, a slide projection, or the image you see in your mind before you click the shutter? In short, is photography a thing, or a picture, or is it a way of seeing it?" — Zoe Leonard, photographer
